

Ogunquit's first female lifeguard was Academy Award winner Bette Davis. She is pictured here with several volunteers who were trained by the Red Cross to patrol Ogunquit Beach in 1926. Davis, most famous for her roles in Jezebel (1938) and Dangerous (1935) owned a home in Cape Elizabeth and performed in venues throughout Maine. A life-long dog lover she championed humane legislation for animals and was active in the training of guide dogs for the visually impaired.
